

CalWIN wins 2012 Computerworld Laureate Humanitarian Award

CalWIN Recognized for LIHP and Health Care Efforts with Computerworld Laureate Award!

The WCDS CalWIN Consortium has been recognized by Computerworld Honors Program, Awarded a 2012 Laureate Award for our work with LIHP and Health Care initiatives.

Correspondence from The Computerworld Honors Program states:

Congratulations! Your organization, Welfare Client Data Systems Consortium, has been named a 2012 Computerworld Honors Laureate in an especially competitive year for the prestigious program.

To select this year's Laureates, we relied on a panel of 22 distinguished judges – many of them Computerworld Premier 100 IT Leader Honorees from diverse industries – to evaluate the humanitarian benefits and measurable results of applying technology to meet a specific social need. Your case study was selected from more than 500 nominations to become one of 200 Laureates from 25 countries.

This is the third straight year that the Computerworld Honors Program has recognized the WCDS CalWIN Consortium for industry leading technology advancements!
